President's Message

Greetings,

I consider it a great honor to serve as your 53rd President of CLSA. My hope is to contribute to the betterment of a profession that has been so good to me. It is not a position I aspired for but rather it is a position of duty. I see it as an excellent opportunity to assist in the framework of mobilizing our Association in a positive direction.

CSRS EPOCH 2017.50 (NAD83) Now Available

The California Spatial Reference Center (CSRC) is pleased to announce that the CSRS Epoch 2017.50 (NAD83) is now available. This project was completed through a contract with the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans). Through this update, the CSRC will continue to provide users in the State with a high-accuracy reference network. The results of the CSRS Epoch 2017.50 (NAD83) update, along with the final project report documenting the project and its conclusions are available on the CSRC website <http://csrc.ucsd.edu>. The epoch update materials currently available are a data table showing the coordinate values with velocities and accuracies of each CGNSS station, a comprehensive Project Report, and a table assessing station quality. More information, such as kml files, will be available soon. In addition, the CSRC website is evolving and being updated to provide a modernized map interface for accessing coordinates and data files.
