About CLSA

Founded in 1966, the California Land Surveyors Association has been helping and protecting the interests of land surveyors across and beyond. The ultimate goal of the Association is to enhance the profession of surveying, support the common good and welfare of our members, educate the public about our profession, and promote the highest standard of land surveying and professional ethics. CLSA represents all land surveyors, whether they are employees, or proprietors, and whether they are in the public or private sector.

We are continuously grateful for our 20 chapters that span the state. Combining these chapters, and our other members, including many that are out-of-state, our membership count has grown to over 1,750 members and is still climbing. CLSA has helped created great connections through our annual conference, our biannual magazine, monthly newsletters and webinars. Topics are always current and always changing, so if your company is interested in promoting a new product or service we are sure that CLSA can help.

Partner with CLSA and let us help you reach out to the people that practice in your profession, work with your equipment and do business with you in mind, with many of the options in our Media Kit.

Advertorial

Advertorials are articles up to three pages in length (including photos) that include a marketing message. They are a very attractive advertising option that allows you to present your message in an informative and educational way to California Surveyor readers. The idea is to present an existing problem or condition and then provide a solution: your product or service. Only one advertorial is available in each issue of California Surveyor so inquire soon regarding the next opportunity to be California Surveyor’s featured article.
